Henry C. Stuart. Virginia's proportion was fixed at 21,354, based on a popu-lation of 1,951,251. Credit was allowed for 3,692 guardsmen in service on April 1, and 2,992 enlisted since that date, together with 838 men in the regular army. A further deduction of thirty-seven men, in a census adjustment, was allowed, bringing the net quota to 13,795. No credit was given the State for men enlisted in the navy and marine corps.

DRAFT WILL BE SLIGHT IN SOME PARTS OF STATE

The Adjutant-General will apportion the quota among the cities and counties. Before that is done, a search of the records will be made to determine the home of each man. If a Richmond man enlisted in a Norfolk command the former city will be given credit for him.
